THE WINE REGIONS OF SWITZERLAND

The 62 appellations of origin (AOCs) produced in the 26 Swiss winegrowing cantons are divided into six winegrowing regions.

7%

THREE LAKES

The 930 hectares of the Three Lakes region are divided into three distinct sections: the 605 hectares of the Neuchâtel wine area, the 220 hectares of the Lac de Bièvre AOC in the canton of Bern, and the 105 hectares of the Vully wine area located in the canton of Fribourg.

26%

VAUD

The canton of Vaud, which is home to the Chasselas variety, boasts six AOCs and two Grand Cru AOCs. Lake Neuchâtel and Lake Geneva exert a beneficial effect on the 3775 hectares of this historic wine area.

9%

GENEVA

Switzerland's third-biggest wine area covers 1410 hectares of land straddling the city and the countryside.

International grape varieties have joined Swiss heritage varieties to diversify the traditional range of grape varieties based on Gamay and Chasselas.

VALAIS

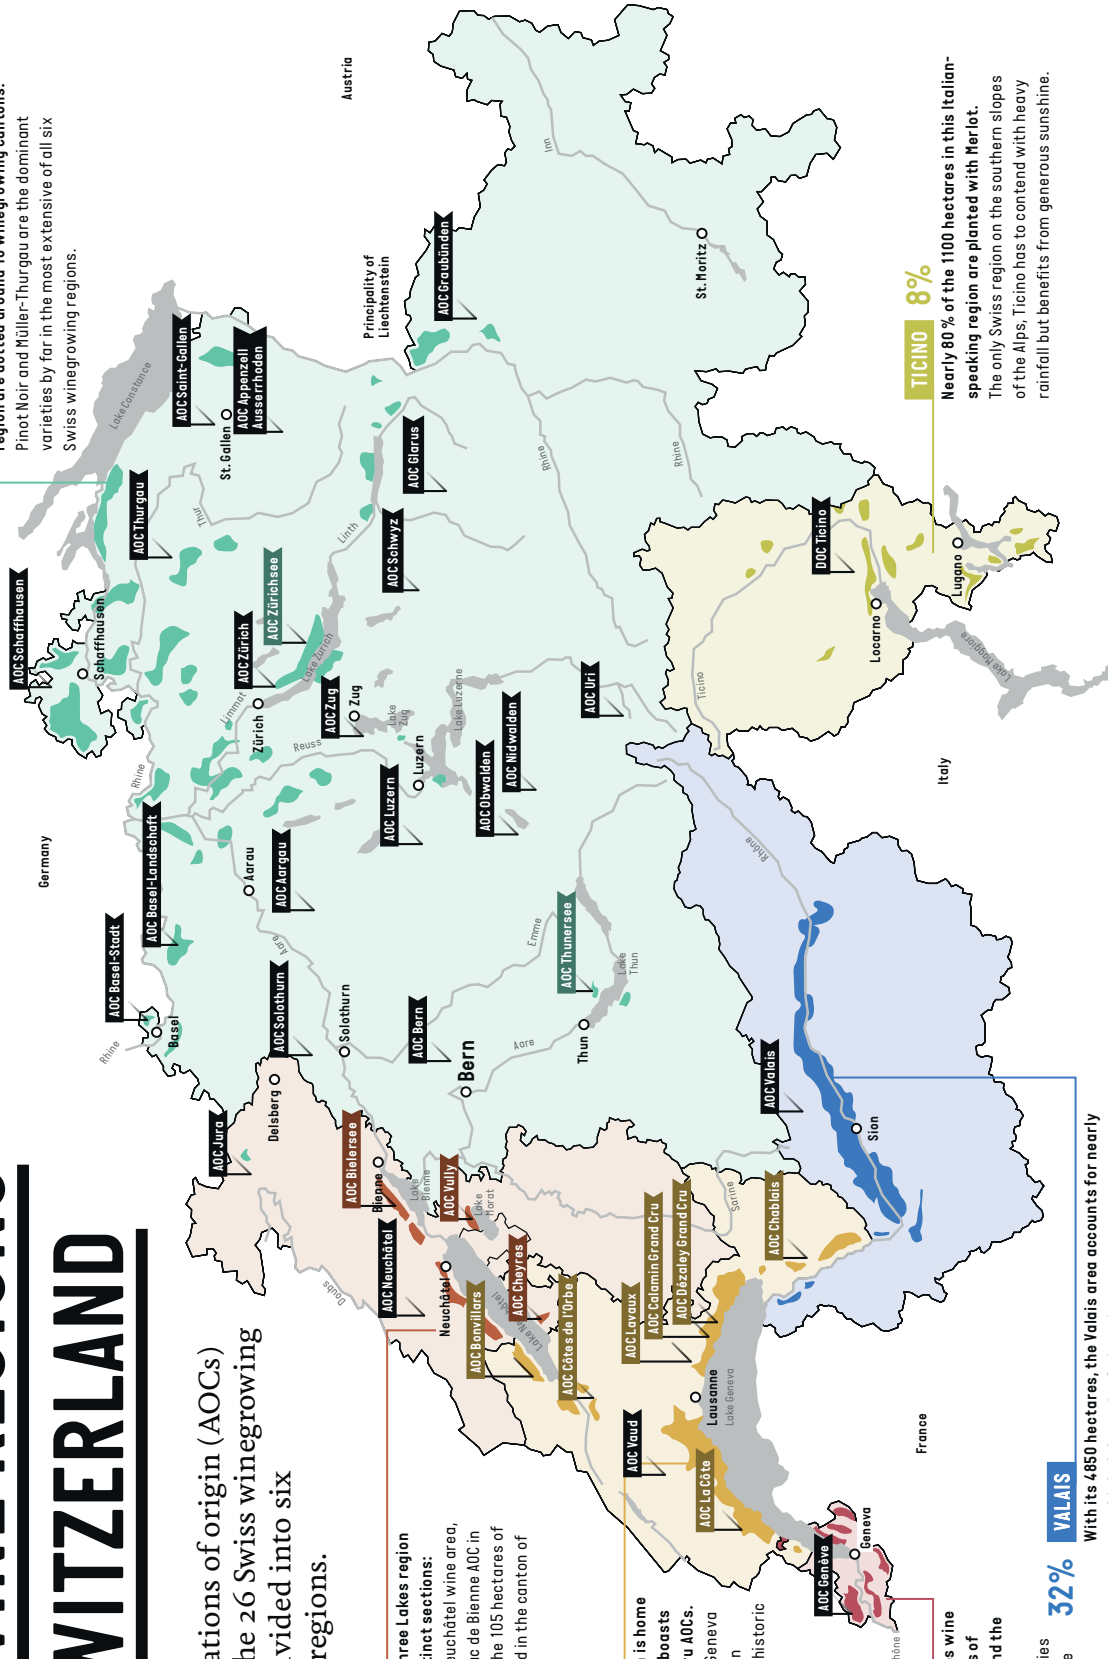

With its 4850 hectares, the Valais area accounts for nearly one third of the entire Swiss wine area. Following the course of the Rhône, the spectacular terraces of the Valais region enjoy a hot and sunny climate that is beneficial to late-maturing grape varieties.

GERMAN-SPEAKING SWITZERLAND 18%

The 2650 hectares of this German-speaking region are dotted around 18 winegrowing cantons. Pinot Noir and Müller-Thurgau are the dominant varieties by far in the most extensive of all six Swiss winegrowing regions.

TICINO 8%

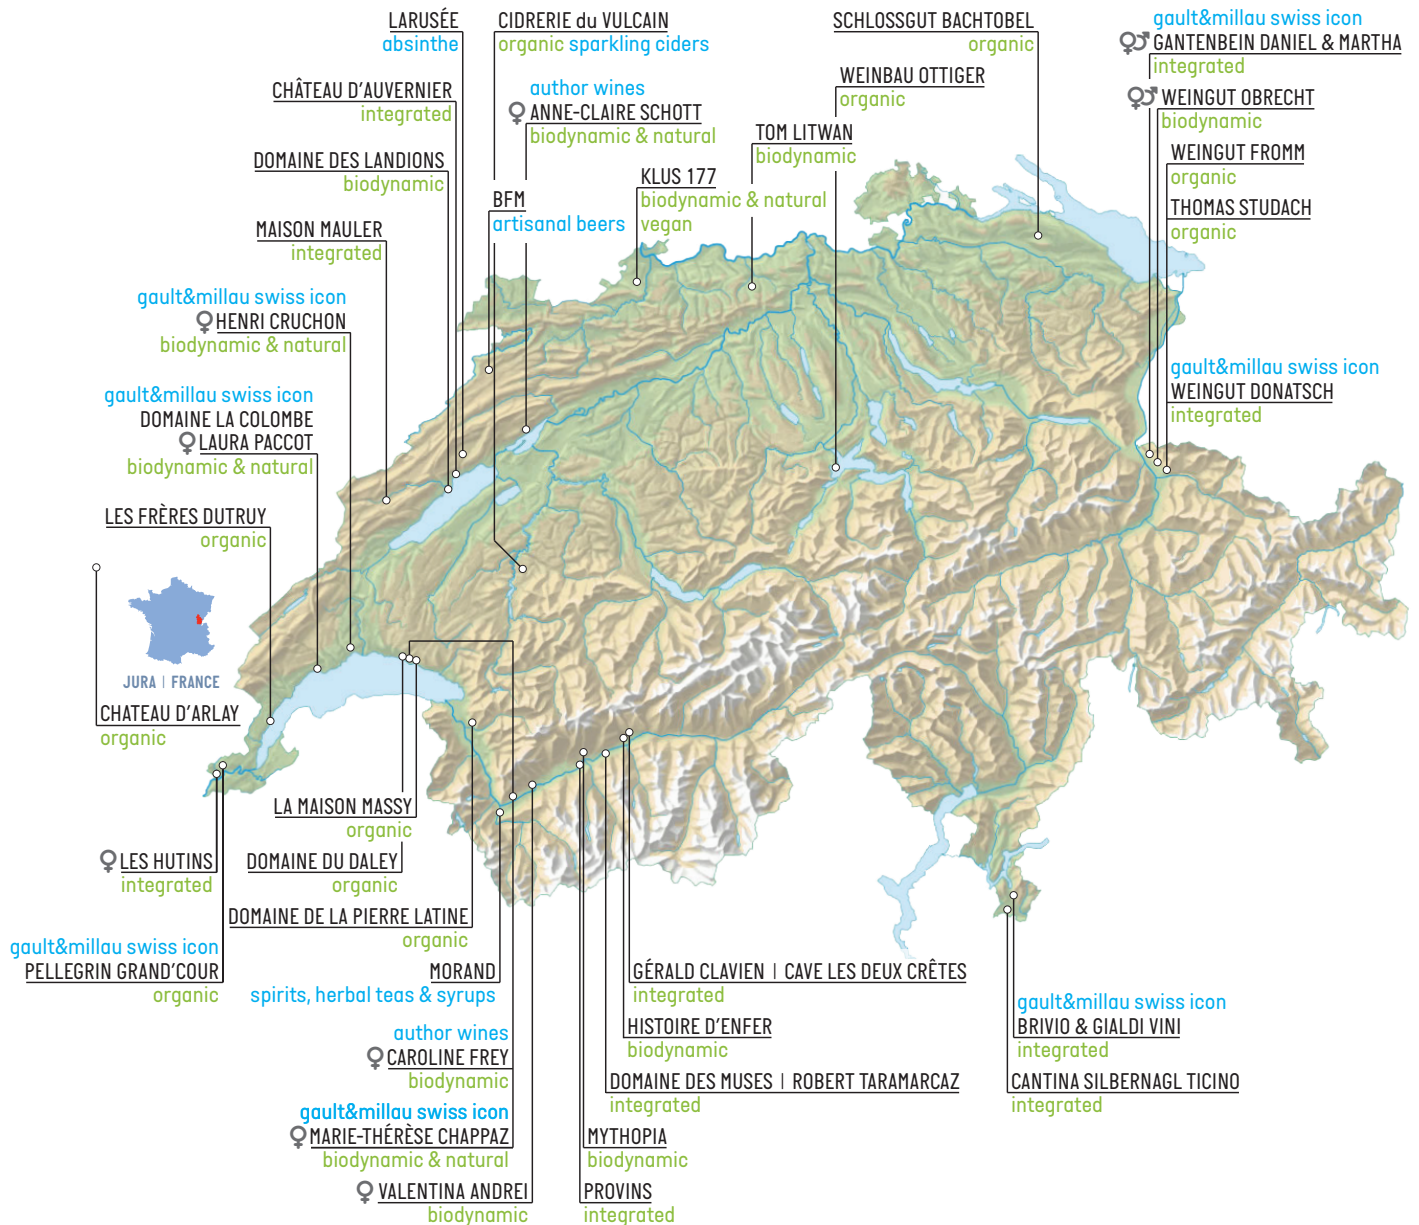

Nearly 80% of the 1100 hectares in this Italian-speaking region are planted with Merlot. The only Swiss region on the southern slopes of the Alps, Ticino has to contend with heavy rainfall but benefits from generous sunshine.

TSWS's mission is to highlight a lesser-known aspect of Swiss culture by presenting a curated selection of some of the most renowned and exceptional Swiss wine producers. These producers are celebrated on the local scene and featured at some of Switzerland's finest dining establishments. The focus is on showcasing small family-run and boutique wineries.

TSWS's offerings feature Absinthe Larusée and Morand Eaux-de-Vies spirits, Cidrerie du Vulcain gastronomy sparkling ciders, and its non-Swiss selection with Jura wines from Château d'Arlay, the oldest wine-growing château from France, and Muri non-alcoholic fermented drinks from Copenhagen.

Overview

A stunningly beautiful country, Switzerland offers a surprising and diverse selection of red, rosé, white, sweet (including Noble Rot) and sparkling wines that reflect the multicultural nature of the country. Geographically nestled amongst four renowned wine producing nations, France, Germany, Italy and Austria, Switzerland has 26 cantons that boast a diverse terroir ideal for growing a variety of grapes.

Home to 50+ grape varieties, Swiss winemaking focuses on terroir driven artisanal wines made from rare or indigenous grape varieties, as well as international types that have found a terroir in which to express themselves at best. Swiss wines exude structure, elegance and complexity.

History - Switzerland has a wine-making history that dates back to pre-Roman times.

Vineyard - Swiss vineyards total 15,000 hectares, which in comparison is half the size of Burgundy (29,500 hectares), 1/5th of Vallée Du Rhône (79,500), and 1/8th of Bordeaux (117,500).

Small Production - Wine production is small covering only 35% of the local market. With an average of 1.1 million hectolitres produced annually, Swiss wines represent a mere 0.4% of world wine production. Less than 2% of its wines are exported.

International Recognition - Although production is small, many Swiss wines receive international recognition and are highly awarded; they regularly equal or surpass fine wines produced by renowned wine-making countries during competitions or blind tastings. Despite low production levels, Switzerland has one of the highest production-to-award ratios in the world.

In 2007, Swiss Syrah was ranked as the top 4, as well as 8th and 9th at a blind tasting of the 2001 vintage by the Grand Jury Européen in a competition of 35 highly rated, world-class Syrah from France, Italy, Switzerland, Australia and USA.

Wine Regions - Wine regions are subdivided into six areas: The cantons of Valais, Vaud and Geneva. Trois Lacs which comprises Neuchâtel, Bienne, Vully and Jura (Western Switzerland). The German-speaking area encompassing Zurich, Schaffhausen, Grisons and Aargau (Eastern Switzerland), and Ticino, the Italian-speaking region.

The majority of wine production is from the French part of the country (80% of the production for 16% of the land). This comprises Valais, which sits in the heart of the Alps and stretches the length of the Rhône River up to the Glacier du Rhône (40% of production); Vaud, mostly along Lake Geneva (25%), and the Geneva and Neuchâtel areas (15%). The German part accounts for 15% of the total production and the Italian part the remaining 5%.

Landscape / Heritage - Swiss dedication to cultivation. The Valais canton boasts terraces created by growers in the third century. Architectural masterpieces built into the rock, the terraces are supported by dry stone walls, some of which are more than 20 meters high, and all built by hand.

The Lavaux region in Vaud, which is a UNESCO World Heritage protected area, also has man-made terraces. These run across steep slopes that rise up from Lake Geneva, known locally as Lac Léman, and are the most beautiful looking vineyard landscapes.

Indigenous Grape Varieties - Chasselas (Fendant in Valais; Gutedel in German) is the most widely planted white grape with 26% of the total wine production, seconding Pinot Noir. Recent years have shown an increased focus on rare and indigenous varieties; some very old and almost distinct, such as white varieties of Amigne, Heida, Humagne Blanche, Completer, and reds, Cornalin, and Humagne Rouge.

New popular varieties developed in the 1970's include red Gamaret, Garanoir and Diolinoir, and more recently resistant grapes red Divico and white Divina.

International Grape Varieties - A series of international grape varieties thrive in Switzerland.

Pinot Noir is nowadays the most planted grape variety in the country with 28%. It is found in 5 out of the 6 wine regions and renders some of the finest and most elegant Pinot's in the World. Pinot Noir is also the most important part of Dôle, a Valais specialty blended with Gamay, which is also vinified as a rosé to form Dôle Blanche. Neuchâtel is home to the famous Oeil-de-Perdrix (Eye of the Partridge), a rosé from 100% Pinot Noir. Lesser renown Perdrix Blanche (White Partridge) is a blanc de noir from 100% Pinot Noir.

Gamay is the 2nd largest planted red grape variety. Well made Gamay's render beautiful light, fresh and fruity wines.

Syrah has travelled up along the Rhône River from France to put down roots in Valais. The wines compete well against those from France and other countries, as does Swiss Merlot which rivals Northern Italian Merlot and wines from Bordeaux.

Chardonnay and Sauvignon Blanc also render beautifully under Swiss climate but the area of productions remain small with 2.5 and 1% respectively.

Müller-Thurgau (also called Riesling-Silvaner, Riesling x Silvaner or Rivaner in Switzerland) is the most planted white grape variety in the German speaking part where it holds strong connection with his creator, Dr. Hermann Müller, being originally from Canton Thurgau at the border of Germany. He created Müller-Thurgau as a crossing of Riesling and Madeleine Royale at the Geisenheim Grape Breeding Institute in Geisenheim, Rheingau, Germany in 1882.

Noble Rot - Valais is one of the rare regions in the world with natural botrytis, making it ideal for producing sweet wines (Noble Rot) that are comparable to the best French Sauternes, Hungarian Tokaji or Austrian and German Beerenauslese.

Grape-growing that respects nature - Swiss winemakers work with nature-friendly and sustainable approaches under strict regulations; the use of chemical treatments on plants is strictly controlled, integrated production (IP) methods are used to reduce any negative impact on the environment, and biodynamic methods that use no synthetic products such as herbicides, insecticides or fungicides, are widely used. Switzerland is one of the top eco-friendly wine producing nations in the world.

Over 75% of the vineyards are Integrated Production, 20% Organic, and 5% Biodynamic.

AOC - In 1988, Geneva formed an AOC (Appellation d'Origine Contrôlée) system similar to those used in the EU, and which other cantons soon followed. The system subjects wines to strict rules that cover every aspect of production, from growing areas and planting, to grape yields and minimum sugar levels.

GRAPE VARIETIES GROWN IN SWITZERLAND

Over 240 varieties are grown however only 75 appear in the statistics and 72% of the production evolves around 4 varieties: Pinot Noir, Chasselas (indigenous), Merlot and Gamay.

Old, Rare and Indigenous grape varieties

Chasselas (called Fendant in Valais) - Is a uniquely Swiss grape variety producing fresh and delicate wines with mineral characteristics and subtle notes of white flowers and white fruits. The wines are typically low in alcohol with a touch of fizziness that age surprisingly well.

Cornalin - Ancient indigenous grape from the Alps that is only found in Valais. It produces fruity wines with an elegant bouquet that are deep crimson-red in color. Their rustic character makes them ideal with game dishes.

Müller-Thurgau aka Riesling-Silvaner - White grape variety created by Hermann Müller from the Canton of Thurgau in 1882 at the Geisenheim Grape Breeding Institute in Germany. Crossing off Riesling and Madeleine Royale. Most planted white in the German part.

Diolinoir - Developed in 1970 by crossing Rouge de Diol, an old Valais grape also known as Robin Noir, and Pinot Noir. Its wines are rich in color, lively, and in mouth they have tight tannins that make them good wines for aging, with cherry and black fruit notes.

Completer - Old varietal from Grisons/Graubünden dating back to 1321. Takes its name from completorium, the evening service of the Benedictine monks who were then authorised to drink a glass of it in silence. Produces rich, strong wines with great supporting acidity.

Gamaret - Developed in 1970 by crossing Gamay and Reichensteiner and intended for the German part of Switzerland. Its wines are rich in color, dense yet lively, in mouth it has black fruit aromas over slightly spicy, grainy tannins.

Amigne - Rare grape grown only in Valais. An ancient variety, traces of it date back to pre-Roman times. Today, its vines cover a total area of 38 hectares, 27 of them located in Vétroz. Amigne is also made into dry, off-dry or sweet wine.

Garanoir - Developed in 1970 by crossing Gamay and Reichensteiner and intended for the French part of Switzerland. With low acidity, Garanoir is seen as perfect or blends, where it gives a well developed color, body and roundness to the wine. It blends very well with a number of other red grape varieties, in particular Pinot Noir, Gamay and Gamaret.

Heida aka Païen - Considered the « Pearl of Alpine Wines ». It bears this name because its vines grow up to 1,150 metres in the Visperterminen commune, one of the highest vineyards in Europe. Heida is produced from the Savagnin Blanc varietal, characterised by small grapes and a low yield, and is a member of the Traminer family.

Humagne Rouge - Although it originated in the Aosta Valley, Italy, today this grape is mainly grown in Valais. Humagne Rouge is not related to Humagne Blanche, but is identical to Cornalin d'Aoste. At risk of extinction in the 1960's, this grape is once again being cultivated. The wine it produces is rustic, with real character and distinctive qualities.

Humagne Blanche - Legends abound about this indigenous Valais variety. In the 19th century, wine made from this grape was said to have fortifying properties which earned it a reputation as being good for women to drink after childbirth. It is a full-bodied wine, bursting with flavours and appealing minerality. Humagne Blanche achieves its fullness after three to four years of ageing.

Petite Arvine - Old indigenous grape variety from Valais that can be traced back to the early 1600's. Grown mostly in Valais, it is also found in neighbouring Aosta Valley, Italy. A typical and widespread Valais specialty, it has gained the status « Queen of Valais ».

Director and lead oenologist of the family estates Château La Lagune in Bordeaux, Domaine Paul Jaboulet Aîné in the Rhône Valley, and Château Corton C in Burgundy, Caroline Frey acquired in 2015 0.12 ha of vineyards planted with Chasselas and Johannisberg (Silvaner) located on steep alpine south-east facing slopes in Fully, Valais. The parcels are worked biodynamically by hand by Caroline herself where she's replanting Petite Arvine.

This is her smallest vineyard, but it is the one taking her most of her time. Caroline calls it her "Jardin Secret" (Secret Garden).

Les Grains Blancs de Mon Jardin Secret 2016 was the first vintage released, 2019 for La Petite Arvine de Mon Jardin Secret, 2020 for Gamay de Mon Jardin Secret, 2022 for Le Chalet and Les Grains Noirs de Mon Jardin Secret, Maison Léderrey produced in Lavaux, and Arvine de France produced at Paul Jaboulet in the Rhône Valley.

PROVINS | Established in 1930

Provins has roots dating back to late 1920's.

A cooperative of 5,000 members (sociétaires), it is the largest wine producer of Valais and Switzerland and is also the most awarded in the country.

Collection « LES TITANS »

"Les Titans" collection represents a tribute to the men who built Valais's dams and to all those who carved out thousands of kilometres of galleries in extreme conditions. The grape varieties selected carry fruit aromas reminiscent of the mountains. The vinification is done traditionally in the cellars of Provins. And then the adventure begins with the barrels transported to 2,200 metres in altitude where they are stored inside the damn galleries deep the mountain. This novel wine-making method was developed by oenologist Luc Sermier and has already gained numerous awards for Les Titans worldwide.

Gault&Millau Swiss Icon

Domaine Grand'Cour, led by Jean-Pierre Pellegrin, is a historic vineyard in Peissy, Geneva, with roots tracing back to 1617.

A trained archeologist, Pellegrin took over the estate in 1989, transforming it into a renowned domaine. He restored the 4-century-old family farm and built a stone wine storehouse in 1994, blending tradition with modernity. Spanning 15 hectares, the vineyard cultivates over 20 grape varieties, including Gamay and Viognier, using sustainable, chemical-free methods.

Affectionately nicknamed L'Horloger (The Watchmaker) among Swiss winegrowers due to his meticulous attention to detail and perfectionism in winemaking. Much like a watchmaker crafting intricate timepieces, Pellegrin approaches his wines with precision and care, ensuring that each bottle reflects his dedication to quality and artistry.

Domaine Grand'Cour's wines, such as the acclaimed "P" and Grand'Cour rouge (red blend), are celebrated for their finesse and complexity, making it a cornerstone of Swiss viticulture and a favorite among connoisseurs.

Established in 1829 Maison Mauler is the only Swiss Maison focusing on the production of sparkling wines following traditional method.

A bucolic and peaceful valley, a former Benedictine monastery where Gregorian chants still resonate, mysterious cellars with centuries-old vaults... It is in this exceptional setting that the Mauler family has been creating great sparkling wines since 1829 with passion and respect for tradition.

Founded in the 6th century by Burgundy monks, the Prieuré de St-Pierre de Môtiers, in the heart of Val-de-Travers, was for nearly a millennium one of the largest religious centers in the region. Spirituality, but also hospitality and friendliness characterize this site whose wine-making destiny was initiated by the Benedictines.

All 6 grapes are harvested at the same time and vinified together in a concrete egg to render a truly unique and stunning author's wine. Mon Vieux Pinot Noir and Pinot Gris Orange were added to the series in 2018. The 2018's Blanc was also vinified with skin contact.

The Donatsch family has owned the « Ochsen » for five generations with a philosophy of producing true wines of outstanding quality, typical of their location. Fourth generation late Thomas Donatsch was the first to experiment with French oak with three used barrels of « La Tâche » received from his friend and fellow winemaker the late André Noblet from Domaine La Romanée-Conti. He pioneered into planting Chardonnay in 1975, a forbidden varietal at the time.

The family estate is now run by fifth generation Martin who spent his vocational years as a vintner and winemaker in Australia, South Africa, Bordeaux and Spain. Martin successfully integrated his gained knowledge and experiences to pursue the quest for producing some of the World's greatest Pinot Noir and Chardonnay.

Martin won the competition for the World's Best Pinot Noir at the Mondial du Pinot in 2010 and 2011. Nowadays he's seconding the Gantenbein's with growing international fame and his Unique series sell out within less than 2 hours when it is going to market.

MURI | Established in 2020

MURI is inspired by the gastronomic community in Copenhagen, particularly the city's expertise in fermentation. We use culinary techniques and unusual ingredients to create blends that go beyond other alternatives.

We are obsessed by flavour development and changing perceptions around the non-alcoholic category. We are devoted to quality which is why we work with small-scale farmers and forage botanicals in nearby Danish forests.

By using flavours and techniques connected to a culinary sphere, our drinks are an ideal companion to a plate of food. A progressive take on the traditional wine pairing, we say.

Murray Paterson founded Muri in 2020 after working as a distiller at the groundbreaking Empirical Spirits distillery in Denmark. Ioakeim Goulidis then joined after a spell at the Noma Fermentation Laboratory.

PASSING CLOUDS | Dry - Complex - Floral

INSPIRATION | Passing Clouds was Muri's first release, a fresh, easy-to-drink bottle of bubbles named after a psychedelic nightclub in London. In restaurants, it's generally served as an aperitif, as a Champagne alternative.

BASE | The base of the drink is a quince water kefir, which gives the fruit-forward taste and the creamy mouthfeel. Gooseberry wine (fermented gooseberry juice) is added next for acidity, with a cultivated yeast that provides floral notes.

FERMENTATION LAYERS | Layered in is a cold-brewed jasmine tea, which accentuates those aromatic qualities you find in the glass. We then add kvass, a caramel malt inoculated with sourdough starter, to give some of those brioche and toasty notes that Murray loves in Champagne. The kvass is infused with geranium and locally foraged woodruff.

RESULT | A dry, complex, floral, and sparkling, and reminds us of some of our favorite skin contact pet nats. Sparkling and refreshing with bright acidity and a heady nose of flowers, honey and ripe fruits. Passing Clouds is dry but with multiple dimensions of flavors and a vinous funkiness.

INGREDIENTS | White currant and gooseberry wine, quince kefir, jasmine tea, geranium & woodruff kvass.

FADE TO BLACK | Sparkling - Light Tannins - Red Berries

INSPIRATION | This came from an internal desire to have a juicy, high acidity, sparkling dark red that has enough sophistication to appease the adults in the room while still sparking energy with its liveliness.

BASE | A blend of black currant and red currant wine and chamomile flower kefir fermented with our unique pichia kluyveri yeast, great for producing tropical esters without the alcohol.

FERMENTATION LAYERS | We layer in a kvass by taking caramel malt and grind it through the mill just to crack it. Add boiling water, let it cool down instead of mashing not allowing starches. We then add a sourdough starter into the kvass and infuse it with pine needles and fig leaves from Ioakeim's Dad's garden.

RESULT | A dark red with a fun-yet-grown-up flavor profile and a delightful effervescence. A nice balance of black current and red current, high acidity, juicy with a tannic grape skin flavor and mouthfeel.

INGREDIENTS | Red currants, black chamomile, malt, fig leaf, pine needles.

MURI x The Four Horsemen |

INSPIRATION | tbd

BASE | Ripe red fruit to the fore. With balanced acidity and a luxurious texture, the blend is given intricate savouriness from the salty beetroot and has a lightly spicy finish.

FERMENTATION LAYERS |

RESULT | Ripe red fruit to the fore. With balanced acidity and a luxurious texture, the blend is given intricate savouriness from the salty beetroot and has a lightly spicy finish.

PAIRING | Pair with duck, root vegetables, or ideally the delicious Toulouse sausage with mashed potatoes and prunes that is on the menu at the Four Horsemen from time to time.

INGREDIENTS | Sour cherry juice, water, red currant juice, tomato water, beetroot, sugar, green peppercorn*, bay leaf, salt, yeast.

YAMILÉ | Aromatic - Funky - Smoky

INSPIRATION | This drink is a result of a collaboration with our good friend Yamilé Abad, whom this drink was named after and is an Enologist working for over a decade in natural wine. She taught us about carbonic maceration which is showcased through carbonic macerated raspberries.

BASE | The base is carbonic macerated raspberries, which provide a very tart flavor, lots of acidity, and give the drink a nice bubblegum pink color. Honey is used as the primary sugar source, and the sweetness is balanced out by the acidity of the gooseberry mead.

FERMENTATION LAYERS | Lacto-fermented smoked rhubarb is layered in next; the fruit has been smoked over beechwood for two days, which gives the drink a slight hint of smokiness. There's a water kefir in this blend, which has been macerated with blanched pink peppercorn, star anise, and goldenrod flowers.

RESULT | A refreshingly dry and approachable libation with lightly playful flavour and familiar almost natural wine-like funkiness. The kefir creates a mouthfeel and texture that can be hard to find in non-alc drinks. Perfect for maintaining the illusion of a rich alcoholic libation.

INGREDIENTS | carbonic raspberry and gooseberry mead, smoked lacto-fermented rhubarb, goldenrod pink peppercorn kefir.

SHERBET DAYDREAM | Sparkling - Pink Fruit - Pine

INSPIRATION | tbd

RESULT | Uplifting bubbles for modern times. Sherbet Daydream is our effervescent blend of redcurrant wine, pickled rhubarb, douglas fir, and juniper berry kefir.

Koji Rice Series 1 |

DESCRIPTION | Koji Rice Series 1 is the first release of three expressions designed to showcase the beautiful complexities of koji fermentation. Our koji rice wine is infused with gently aromatic mahleb, and blended with a kefir of lavender we have smoked over beechwood.

The blend is an unfiltered, still expression that captures the earthy and herbaceous notes in the koji rice. Possessing a silky, luxurious mouthfeel, the blend is medium-dry, with soothing warm undertones.

The complexity of the drink allows for a myriad of pairing options. Crunchy salads will play well, as well as desserts, particularly dishes such as the classic Danish 'Risalamande,' or Hokkaido milk pudding. The drink is also beautiful on its own.

CHASSELAS FOREVER - The tale of a grape variety

This grape was one of the treasures of the sultan's tables. It was the crowning glory at sumptuous feasts offered by King Francis the First of France.

Chasselas has long fed history and legends. Scientists, historians and wine producers lift the veil of the origins of this grape variety, so emblematic of the vineyards of French-speaking Switzerland.

From seed to Grand Cru, from the infinitesimally tiny to geographically vast - on a world scale - this is the history of Chasselas as you have never seen or heard it.

Chasselas - From Féchy to Dézaley by Chandra Kurt

A voyage of discovery through the treasures of canton Vaud's vineyards.

In collaboration with legendary winemaker Louis-Philippe Bovard, the well-known Swiss wine author Chandra Kurt takes a closer look at a global wine phenomenon – the Chasselas grape. Although it is grown all over the world, it is mostly enjoyed as a table grape. Not so in Switzerland, where Chasselas is the most important variety of white wine grape, especially on the shores of Lake Geneva, where it originates.

"Chasselas is like Chanel – timeless, elegant, feminine, classic. Pure understatement, which is what makes haute couture", says Chandra Kurt. Because even though Chasselas may appear moderate and humble, there is unbelievable character and force in this grape.
